

2018 BCAM WOMEN'S COLLEGE COACHES OF THE YEAR

Sue Guevara
Central Michigan University
Women's College Coach of the Year

Sue Guevara led the Central Michigan University Chippewas to unprecedented heights in 2017-18. This season the Chippewas earned both the MAC regular-season and tournament championships, a program record of 30 wins, and a Sweet Sixteen appearance in the NCAA Tournament. The two NCAA Tournament wins marked the first in program history. Sue Guevara is in her 11th year as the CMU women's basketball head coach. She has led the Chippewas to 20 or more wins in seven of the last eight seasons and is the program's all-time winningest coach with a 206-148 record. Coach Guevara was honored with the 2018 Kay Yow National Coach of the Year Award and the 2018 Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year Award.

Jay Ritchie
Macomb Community College
Women's Junior College Coach of the Year

Macomb Community College Head Women's Basketball Coach Jay Ritchie concluded his ninth season as the Monarchs' leader. In 2017-18 his team ended the season with an impressive 27-8 record, which included a Michigan Community College Athletic Association (MCCAA) Eastern Conference title. Macomb's District H championship win over Schoolcraft College with a score of 64-63 earned MCC a spot in the National Junior College Athletic Association National Tournament for the second year in a row. At the 2018 national tournament Macomb finished eighth in the country. To date, Coach Ritchie has compiled a 190-77 win-loss record at MCC, in addition to four league titles and two regional championships.
